WHOLESALE PRICE LIST 1928

A view of the extensive acreage of the J. P. Woodward Bulb Farms. This scene shows part of the ground used in the production of Anemones and Ranunculus.

Woodward's Bulbs Are the Result of Careful Re-Selection

The superior strains of anemones and ranunculus that are raised on my farms are the result of three years of careful re-selection obtained from the finest imported stocks obtainable.

Very gratifying results were met with our shipments last year, and this year the stocks show an even greater improvement, enough in fact, for me to recommend them to all flower raisers as the best grown in this country, famous for the beauty and size of its stem and bloom.

I respectfully solicit your orders for bulbs for the coming season, and feel sure that once you try them and benefit from the results, you will be our customer always.

Sincerely,

J. P. WOODWARD.
